Alexander Quinn is a senior at Sydney High, in a tiny farm town in Michigan. He's football star who dreams of playing in the NFL. He lives on a dairy farm with his parents and his father Carl has plans for him to take over the family farm.

Natalie Sullivan is a junior at Alexander's school and she wants nothing more than to win his attention. Her family lives a stone's throw away from the Quinn farm and she has had a crush on Alex for as long as she can remember.

An unexpected illness disrupts everyone's plans and leaves Alexander's hope for a future looking bleak. His family is willing to do anything to save him; even if that means leaving the country for experimental treatment.

This treatment comes at a very high cost, in more ways than one. It also comes with some very strange side effects.

Could Alexander Quinn be the world's first superhuman?
