Jimmy Williams, Master Teacher Laura Brown

Jimmy Williams, Master Teacher is the true story of a renaissance man who rose from humble beginnings to become one of boxing's greatest teachers. Born in the central Florida town of Leesburg, Jimmy left home at the tender age of thirteen, migrated to New York City and achieved distinction as a dancer, drummer and fashion model. After returning to his Florida roots, he embarked on a decades-long career as a trainer of champions that took him all over the world. Jimmy was among the first class of inductees to the Florida Boxing Hall of Fame. In addition to recounting his life and his involvement in the careers of fellow Hall of Famers James Salerno and John Mugabi, the book offers valuable insight into the master teacher's philosophy of life. You will find his story inspirational as well as entertaining. The project was spearheaded by one of his students, Maydad Ronen. Maydad is from Australia and is an inspiring tale in his own right. He won two world masters boxing championships while in his forties.
